FOR RURAL DELIVERY

How Districts May Get System.

PETITION TO WASHINGTON

Local Postoffice Agent Gives Instructions For Addressing Department.

M. H. Flint, special agent of the post-office department, yesterday sent out the following circular to the various islands showing the method by which the citizens can secure rural free delivery service at any point in the island group. A petition, he states, addressed to the First Assistant Postmaster General, Washington, D. C., will have the same effect as if brought up through the agency of the delegate to Congress from Hawaii. As Hawaii will not have such a representative for sometime, the former plan is the only one feasible. The circular reads:

The question of the establishment of the rural free delivery service at any point throughout the Territory of Hawaii will not be considered by the Post-office Department in Washington unless the following instructions are complied with:

Prepare a petition addressed to the First Assistant Postmaster-General, Washington, D. C., requesting the establishment of the service, have the petition signed by all the proposed patrons of the route and then secure the favorable endorsement of Governor Dole.

This will be necessary until a delegate to Congress is elected in the Territory.

The route should not be less than twenty-five miles in length and the roads must be in good condition.

A rough map should be furnished of the country to be traversed, accompanied by a general statement as to the number and avocations of the people to be served.

The intention of the service is to give a delivery of mail once daily to farming and rural communities, but there must not be less than 100 families served by each carrier.

Carriers for the first year receive a salary of $400 which includes horse hire, this compensation will probably be increased the second year to $500.

Patrons of the route are required to place receiving boxes at the entrance to their farms or homes, thereby expediting the delivery of the mail.

The local postoffice is in receipt of a portion of its new equipment for the inter-island service. One hundred keys for the mail bags are at hand, marked "Hawaiian Service." The rest of the paraphernalia will be here shortly and will make the equipment as complete as that of any part of the United States.

The map showing the districts arranged for the free delivery system of Honolulu have been finished by Louis Kenake and will go forward to Washington today on the Alameda for approval by the Postoffice Department. Complete schedules giving the names of the streets embraced in the system accompany the map.

MONKEY'S MENTALITY SUFFERED DODGING BALLS SAYS THE LEARNED POLICE JUDGE

A N ill-treated monkey and its enterprising owner were in the police court yesterday morning and a fine of $20 and costs was assessed against the latter by Judge Wilcox. Nakatana, as already related in the Advertiser, used the monkey for the amusement of his customers. These threw rubber balls at a basket attached to the right fore-shoulder of the grinning ape, which dodged right and left to escape being hit in the face. Five rubber balls were sold for five cents, and for every ball that was thrown into the basket a prize of five cents was given. Nakatana was a shrewd amusement monger and reaped many nickels during the day and evening.

Judge Wilcox was of the opinion that under such conditions the monkey had been ill-treated, but that its sufferings were mental rather than physical, and that a human being who would subject an animal to such suffering ought to be fined.

Nakatana made a statement about the matter and said he was careful as to the simian's hours for work, for eating and for sleep. He was fed at the noon hour, at five o'clock, and was allowed to sleep at intervals when his head was not needed for the ball-throwing. He pointed out that the monkey was so quick and active in its movements that it was seldom a ball struck its face. The humane officer who made the arrest Tuesday evening testified as to the manner in which the monkey was made the butt of the fun at Iwilei in Nakatana's establishment.

He watched the monkey and its tormentors for some time and then concluded that a charge of cruelty to animals was the right charge to place against Nakatana. His opinion was that the monkey's suffering was great. The monkey during the trial occupied a convenient place as an "exhibit" for the prosecution. Judge Wilcox's suggestion that a Japanese boy be used to dodge balls instead of the monkey was met with disfavor by the Japanese.

It's ideal for home use—
